CONTINUE TO HOLD ALOOF

Money Continued Easy Throughout the Week, Although Banks Are Losing to Sub-Treasury-Venezuelan Affair Had Little Influence.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, February 7.—The Finanolai Age, in its weekly review, says:

The changes that occurred in the situation last week were of a favorable character, and as such were generally enaracter, and as such were earpreclated in stock market quarters, where there was a noticeable improvement in speculative sentiment. This feeling of confidence as reflected in stock market operations was not shared in by the general public, who have persist-ently refused to lend their support to an elevation of values. Favorable and unfavorable developments have alike been treated with an indifference that is as unprecedented as it is disappointing to brokers who have predicted each week brokers who have predicted each week that outside interest would soon be awakened. This apathy, which has been the subject of much comment in financial circles, cannot accurately be interpreted as an evidence of a lack of confidence in the prevailing conditions in the commercial world. It is more logical to suppose that past experiences in the stock market have taught the public that the very conditions that are indicative of rising values are not safe guides to follow in the matter of speculation.

guides to follow in the matter of speculation.

The volume of business transacted on the Stock Exchange last week showed, that the above noted apathy on the part of the public did not extend to the ranks of the larger operators, who look advantage of the low prices of dividend paying railroad and industrial issues to further increase their holdings.

Money continued very easy, and no attention was paid to the fact that the banks are losing largely to the Subtreasury, although they continue to gaifrom the interior in somewhat diminished volume. But the money martet lass, for the time being, ceased to be a cause of worry in financial circles. WITHOUT EFFECT.

WITHOUT EFFECT.

The announcement of proposed action of the New York Clearing House to compel the trust companies clearing through Clearing House banks to keep cash reserves which on and attended the standard which are also of all the standard which are also of all the standard which it is intended thall contained to the State banks, was the most important financial news of the week, although it had absolutely no effect upon the stock market. This action will undoubtedly tend to strengthen the financial situation, although the opinion has been advanced that in times of stringency in the money market the reserve which trust companies will be compeled to maintain in their vaults will be an important factor in keeping up money rates and in increasing the stringency in loanable funds. Inasmuch as trust companies will have ample time to prepare for the inauguration of the new system, which will occur on June 1st, predictions of this sort appear to be somewhat premature. While the proposed action of the Clearing House sutherities will necessarily entail the retirement of a certain amount of available funds, the added security thus insured to depositors and to financial interests generally will more than counterbalance the effect, and is far preferation in extending red to which the trust companies have enjoyed under the present system.

The advance in sterling exchange brought that phase of the steation in cottoning the tile chart is and if rected dom in extending credit which the trust companies have enjoyed under the present system.

The advance in sterling exchange hrought that phase of the situation in for greater discussion, although there seems to be not the remotest possibility that the rise in exchange will involve exports of gold.

Senator Elkins' anti-trust measure, which last week passed the Senate without debate, is regarded as by far the most favorable bill relating to the regulation of corporations that has come before the national legislative body during the present session. Its principal features, which we have previously described at considerable length, are far loss measure, and are generally acceptable to the sornorate interests, who take the sensible view that as antivitable to the corporate interests, who take the sensible view that as an invitable to the corporations exclusing the part of wisdom not to oppose ensure, and are generally acceptable to the consideration as it remains a subject is not given the Eikhas bill.

Eggleston Girl Remains With Mr. Wilson Aid Given Needy Family-No Development in Church Muddle. Other Manchester Notes.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, Carter's Drug Store, No. 1102 Hull Street No information as to the cause of the accident to the man who was found just outside the city limits of Manchester yesterday morning has been learned, nor is it certain that the man's name is Chris Reed, as supposed to have been

The man was found yesterday morning some time before noon by Mr. Chas. H. Atkinson and his little son John. He had evidently been lying beside the track some time, and it is the belief of the police that he fell from a moving train He was carried to the almshouse, where Superintendent Allen gave him all possible attention, but up to a late hour last night no one had called to see him or to identify him, and he had not sufficiently recovered from his exposure and bruises to tell anything about himself, except that he lived in Manchester on Hull Street, near Sixteenth. No one in that neighborhood knew anything about him.

His right eye was cut and swollen an his arms and legs were bruised, but so far as Dr. Merchant could ascertain there were no injuries of any extent.

his aright eye was were bruised, but so far as Dr. Merchant could ascertain there were no injuries of any extent. The most serious part of the man's condition resulted from exposure, and it is believed he will recover.

He is a man of about sixty-five years of age, five feet six inches in height, weighs about 130 pounds, has brown eyes, slightly baid, gray har, mustache and beard. He wore a comparatively new suit of underwear. His outer clothing was so muddy and filled with dust and dirt that it was hard to ascertain the color. He wore a corduroy cap and had on but one shoe, which was worn.

GENEROUS STRANGERS.

The deserving Reed family at No. 501 West Seventh Street, were kindly remembered yesterday. After the appeal for them in The Times-Dispatch yesterday morning, unknown persons sont them a liberal supply of wood and coal, and kind-hearted citizens contributed funds that will help.

The sum of 55 was left at the Manchester headquarters of The Times-Dispatch by Mrs. A. D. Elsrod, and $2.39 was left at the Richmond office. These sums were handed Mrs. Reed by the paper's representative yesterday evening and tears came to her eyes as she expressed her thanks to those who had so generously assisted her.

"This will keep us in medicine and food," she said, "and I am so thanful for the assistance given us."

Dr. Brodnax has volunteered his services for the sick man, and will de all that medical ""Il can for him.

Other contractions may be sent to The Times-Dispatch office and provisions may be sent to No. 501 West Seventh Street, to Mrs. Daisy Reed.

CASE DISPOSED OF.

The charge brought by J. E. Eggleston against Mr. John Wilson for detaining the little girl of the former, was disposed of by Mayor Maurice in the Police Court yesterday.

Mr. Wilson showed an agreement signed by Mr. Eggleston, by which the child was turned over to him in her infancy, and upon this agreement the Mayor dismissed the case and allowed the child to remain inder the charge of Mr. Wilson.

to remain inder the charge of Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Eggleston retained Judge Clopton as his counsel, and further proceedings will probably ! instituted this week.

AFI ANOON PISTICUIFF.

There was something of a scrap near the court-house yesterday morning, when C. C. Elder and Mr. J. B. Eggleston engaged in a sort of knock-down-and-drageut affair. Mr. Eggleston was hit in the face with a brick, and Mr. Elder suffered from a blow from the former's flst.

Captain Lipscomb arrested both parties, and they were balled to appear in the Police Court to-morrow morning.

LOOKED AT THE STREETS.

The Street Committee visited Fourteenth, Maury and Ninth Streets yesterday afternoon to look into the condition of the same, and a subcommittee was appointed to ascertain the cost of repairs. The same, and a subcommittee was appointed to ascertain the cost of repairs. The subcommittee will report at the next meeting. It consists of Messrs. Grizzard, Hooker, and Sampson.

LODGE OF ELKS.

Mr. Eugene W. Lipscomb, an enthu-stastic Elk, has secured a sufficient number of charter members to form a lodge in Manchester. The list embraces many of the leading citzens and a number of induential men. When instituted the lodge will prove a credit to Elikdom, and there is little doubt but that it will be a most ropular organization.

The institution will take place early in April, so that the lodge will be ready to attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Baltimore next summer. In another place in this issue will be found an article of the Order of Elis, written by District Deputy Phil. G. Kelly, of Richmond, which axplains the work and influence of the order. NOTHING NEW

There are no further developments in the Clopton-Street Baptist Church affair, but it was said last night that there would be developments at the next church mee.ing.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Memorial Hospital definite plans for the extension of the memorial idea were decided upon. It has heretofore been the custom in local hosheretofore been the custom in local hos-pitals to dedicate rooms by equipping them. To perpetuate such a memorial it is necessary for the denor to renew the equipment from year to year, as it wears out. Unless a sufficient annuity is provided at the death of the donor of such a memorial for its maintenance the memorial must under this plan end when its maintenance ceases; and even when its maintenance ceases; and even when such annuity is provided the fact that wear necessitates the renewal of equipment carries with it unavoidably the idea of transiency, which necessarily attaches to the memorial itself.

Wishing to make the memorials in the new hospital permanent in character, the board has adopted a different plan. In

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., February 7

The keel of the battleship Louisiana was laid at the shippard this morning without any special ceremony. It will take out any special ceromony. It will take several days to complete the keel and then the work on the ship proper will begin. Great interest is being taken in the race, which it is said will be pulled off between the local yard and the Brooklyn navy-yard, which is building the Connecttient, the sister ship to the Louisiana. The yard will employ a number of new men when the work on the battle-ship is well under way.

Judge Dew Hunting Beneath the "Dus of Ages" for Data With Which to Make Uncle Sam Pay His Debt. Exposition Commission.

Governor Montague spent the morning in his office engaged with routine business Just before 2 o'clock Colonel John S. Harwood, a member of His Excellency's staff, called over the 'phone, and asked Mr. Montague if he would like to go to the Bljou and see the Texas Steer, which is one of Hoyt's take-offs on politics and political methods. Colonel on politics and political methods. Cooled-Harwood thought the Governor might like to take a peep at a real politician. His Excellency said he would, and the bar-gain was made. These two robust cit-zons occupied front seats of one of the and boxes, and many a good laugh was coaxed from their part of the building.

Colonel Richardson is having the roadway to the Governor's Mansion repayed with crushed granite, and the grass plots top-dressed. At the first touch of spring the grass will be very beautiful, and respond quickly to the warmth. The Mayor of Marion, has appointed Colonel Anderson a delegate to the Convention of Associated Charities, which meets here next week.

Judge Dew finds that the claims and counter claims of the State and the National Governments are in a tangled condition.

Uncle Sam's representatives demand that the State shall show just when the loans were made, for how long made and what interest was stipulated to paid. Now all this business transaction paid. Now all this business transaction happened nearly a hundred years ago, and Judge Dew finds that the records, besides not being so well kept, are scattered and poorly preserved. He is earning his salary digging in the "dust of ages" for the data he must have.
